

F 881

· M96

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 017 187 443 9

F 881
.M96
Copy 1

Beauty Spots of Oregon

"The Summer Playground of America"

Multnomah Hotel
"YOUR WESTERN HOME"
Portland, Oregon

F 331

.M96

JAN -2 '23

23-4512

SHB 20 Feb 1923

View of Crater Lake, Showing the Phantom Ship
Crater Lake National Park, Oregon

Photo by Winters

THE STATE OF OREGON, "The Summer Playground of America," has been rightfully named, as it offers more to the tourist and nature lover in the way of climate and scenic wonders than any other State in the Union. ¶ In presenting this booklet, it is our desire to have our friends become better acquainted with a number of these "Beauty Spots," and see if we can interest you to the extent of spending your summers in Oregon and enjoying its beauties with us. ¶ In the Lobby of the Multnomah Hotel we maintain an Information Bureau, which will furnish at any time, information not only pertaining to these scenic spots, but to our Highways and Resorts.

Please address all inquiries to the Multnomah Hotel, Portland, Ore.

OUT WHERE THE WEST BEGINS

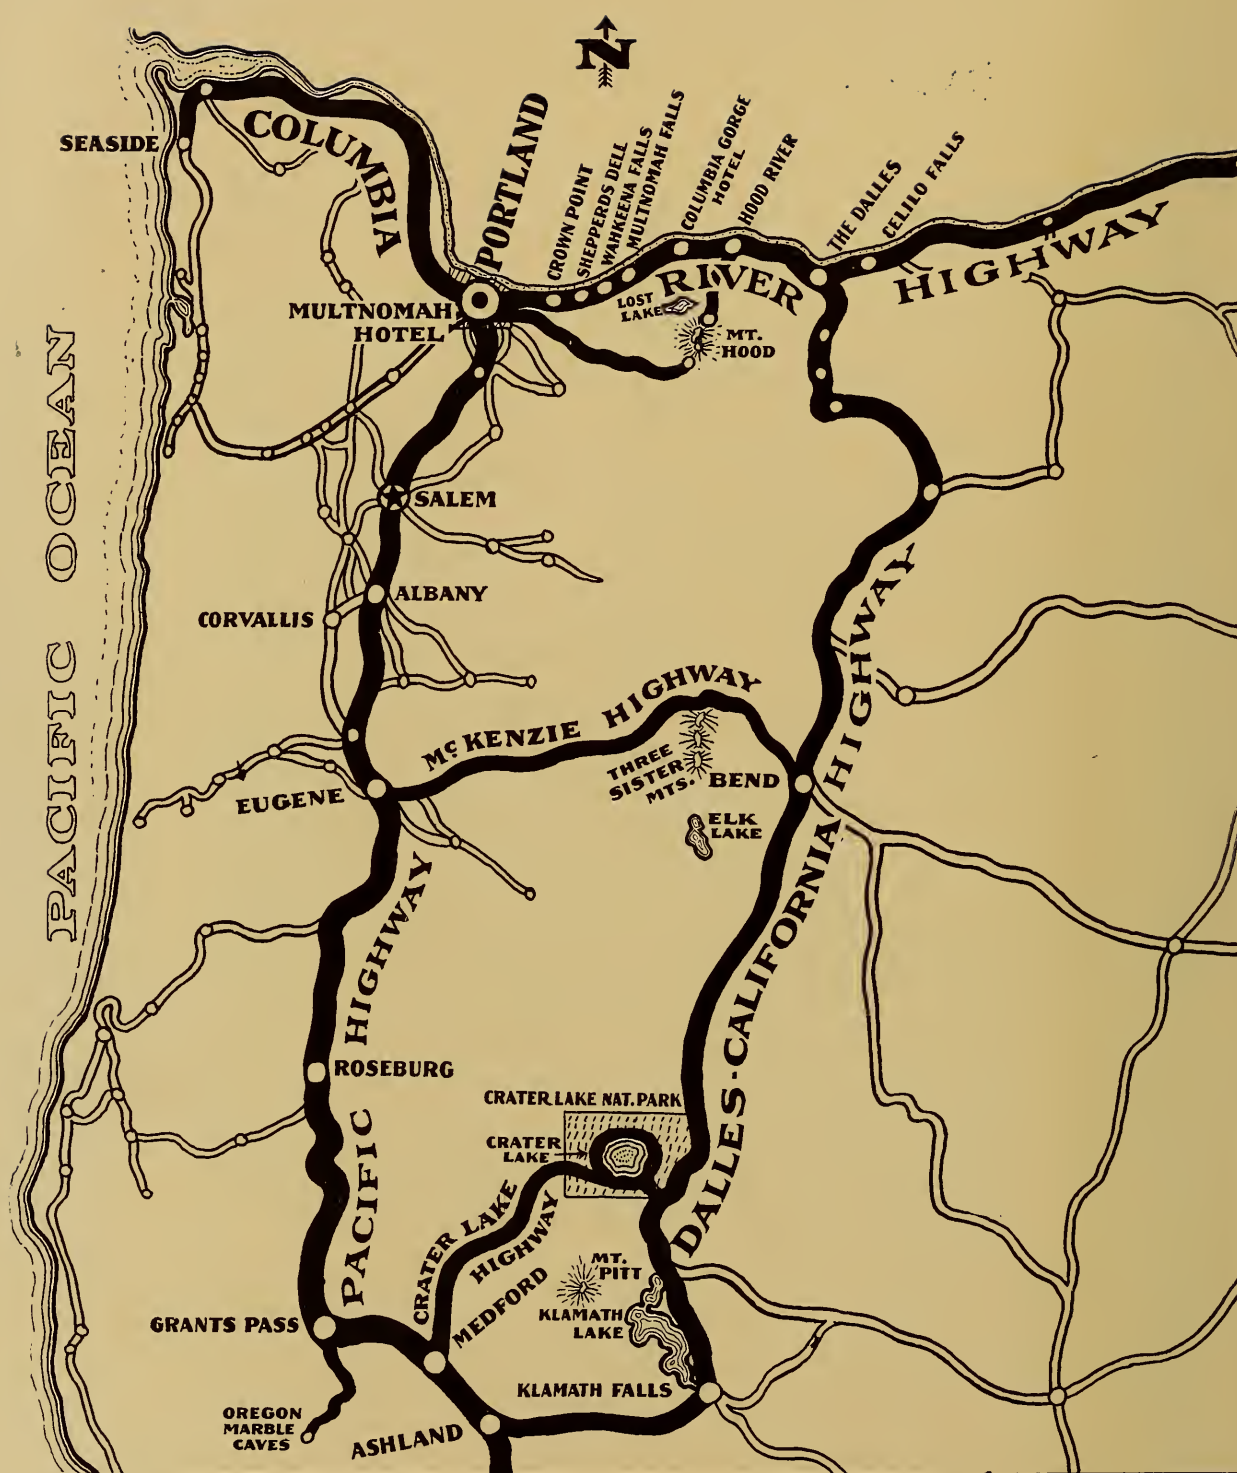

By ARTHUR CHAPMAN

Out where the handclasp's a little stronger,
Out where the smile dwells a little longer,
 That's where the West begins;
Out where the sun is a little brighter,
Where the snows that fall are a trifle whiter,
Where the bonds of home are a wee bit tighter,
 That's where the West begins.

Out where the skies are a trifle bluer,
Out where friendship's a little truer,
 That's where the West begins;
Out where a fresher breeze is blowing,
Where there's laughter in every streamlet flowing,
Where there's more of reaping and less of sowing,
 That's where the West begins.

Out where the world is in the making,
Where fewer hearts in despair are aching,
 That's where the West begins;
Where there's more of singing and less of sighing,
Where there's more of giving and less of buying,
And a man makes friends without half trying—
 That's where the West begins.

THE MULTNOMAH HOTEL,
"Your Western Home," is the largest in the Pacific Northwest.
Located in the heart of the business section of Portland. Absolutely fireproof. Operated on the European plan only. Beautifully furnished sleeping rooms, dining rooms and coffee shop. Service and appointment is unequaled in every department. Our spacious lobby, banquet and convention halls enable us to furnish service required for conventions of any size. Tourists traveling by automobile may have their cars cared for in our own garage, which is part of "Multnomah Service."

This map shows the relative location to Portland of the Beauty Spots of Oregon, as shown in this booklet, and the principal highways leading to them.

CROWN POINT, on the Columbia River Highway, is eight hundred feet above the Columbia River. From the Vista house in the center of the picture one can see the full length of the Columbia Gorge. A sunset viewed from this point is never forgotten, as the color on the water, the green mountains and rock cliffs make a blend of color which is very fascinating. This Point is an hour's drive from the Multnomah Hotel.

SHEPPERD'S DELL
—a charming spot on the Columbia River Highway, about an hour's drive from the Multnomah Hotel.
One must see to fully appreciate the marvelous beauties of our Highway--so different from any other drive in the world.

WAHKEENA FALLS, covers the visitor with mist, as he stops on the Columbia River Highway to enjoy its beauty. A one and one-quarter hour's drive from the Multnomah Hotel over the Highway, will put you by the side of this rushing cataract. This wonderful spot will linger forever in one's memory.

MULTNOMAH FALLS, on the Columbia River Highway. The foot bridge overlooks the punch bowl under the 607 foot fall; the lower cataract drops 60 feet to the stream which passes under the highway but a short distance from the falls. This magnificent beauty spot is but 35 miles from Portland--one and one-half hour's drive from the Multnomah Hotel.

COLUMBIA GORGE HOTEL, on the Columbia River Highway, is located sixty miles from Portland and three miles from Hood River. This tourist hotel has the most scenic setting of any of Oregon's resorts.
It is located high above
the Columbia River, with many snow capped mountains in view, and one never tires
feasting on the wonders from the veranda of this hostelry.

CELILO FALLS on the Columbia River Highway, above The Dalles. Here the Columbia River makes its first break as it dashes into the Columbia Gorge along which is built the wonderful Columbia River Highway. It is at this point on the river that the Indians from this section of the country come to get their winter's supply of salmon.

THE BIG BEND, in the Deschutes River for which the beautiful City of Bend was named, and the Three Sister Mountains in the background. This particular part of Oregon seems to have been blessed with a greater variety of scenery than any other. Bend is on the Dalles-California Highway, east of the Cascade Mountains. An hour's ride from Bend will put one right into the very heart of these marvelous mountains.

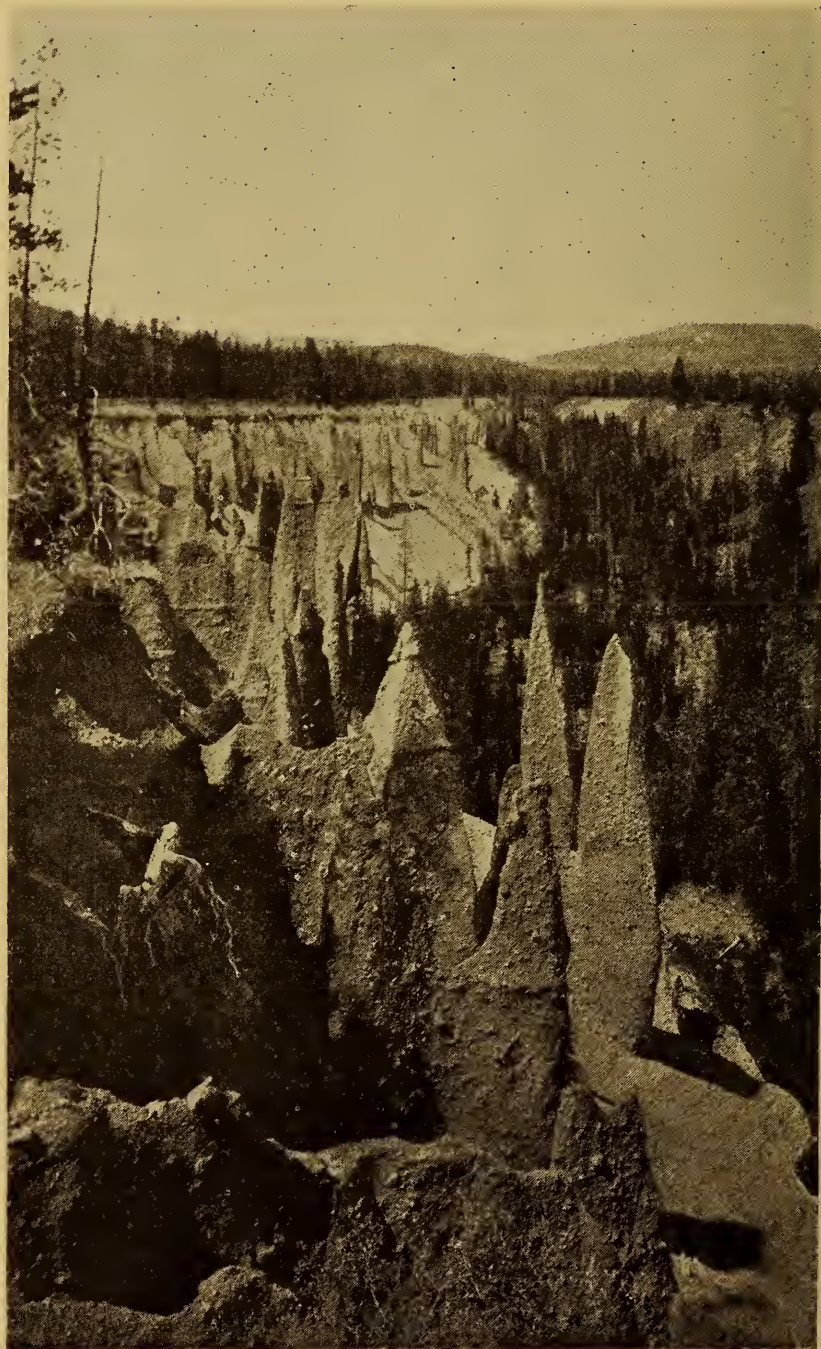

FLK LAKE, with the south Sister in the distance. This wonderful spot is but a few miles from the City of Bend. The tourist never tires of its beauties, and the sportsman wonders from whence came all the fish.

THE SOUTH SISTER, which is the largest of the three Sister Mountains. A wonderful view of these mountains may be had either from the Pacific Highway, on the west side of the Cascade Mountains, or The Dalles-California Highway on the east. They are reached from Eugene on the west, or Bend on the east. The Mazamas, a mountain climbing club, spent their vacation in this section in 1922.

THE PINNACLES,
in Wheeler Creek
Canyon, Crater Lake National Park. One of the side trips from Crater Lake Lodge.

CRATER LAKE
Lodge, in Crater
Lake National Park.
This unusual picture was taken from Garfield Peak, and shows the rugged country in and about the Park.

CRATER LAKE LODGE, on the rim of Crater Lake in Crater Lake National Park. This scenic wonder is conceded by all to have no equal as to beauty and grandeur; standing, absolutely, in a class by itself. The distance from the water's edge to the Lodge is one thousand feet, and the distance across the lake is six and one quarter miles. The altitude at this point is 7,200 feet. The snowfall in the winter completely covers the sides and roof of the lodge.

CRATER LAKE in Crater Lake National Park, situated in the heart of the Cascade Mountains in Southern Oregon. It is reached through three entrances. From Medford at the west; Klamath Falls at the south; and Bend at the east. From Medford the tourist follows the Rogue River for a distance of sixty miles. This is one of the most scenic rivers in Oregon, also the home of the steelhead and trout.

PHANTOM SHIP
in Crater Lake.
During the months of July and August these rocks are a bed of wild flowers, such as are seen only at very high altitudes. The season at Crater Lake is from July 1 to September 20.
The Park is reached by automobile or automobile stages, operated by the Crater Lake National Park Company, from Medford and Klamath Falls, which are the nearest railway points.

CRATER LAKE in Crater Lake National Park. On account of its great depth, the water in the lake takes on a color of deep blue, which is most beautiful. The depth of the lake is 2,000 feet.

STILL another view of Crater Lake in the Crater Lake National Park. For further information regarding any of the scenic points in this booklet, please inquire of the Multnomah Hotel, as there is maintained in the lobby an information bureau that will answer all questions concerning interesting points in Oregon. The Multnomah Hotel is the Tourist Hotel and Tourist Guide of the State.

A NOTHER view of Crater Lake in Crater Lake National Park.
Volumes could be written about the wonders of this lake, but one must see it to appreciate its amazing charms.

THE DREAM OF all sportsmen. These Rainbow Trout were caught in Klamath Lake, and range in size from 18 to 28 inches in length. No place in the world does the trout strike harder and fight longer than in these waters. One has only to drive a few miles from Klamath Falls to catch the limit of these speckled beauties.

MT. PITT. This picture was taken from the east shore of Klamath Lake. In driving from Klamath Falls to Crater Lake National Park, one rides along the shores of Klamath Lake for twenty miles, with Mt. Pitt always in view, just as seen in this picture. Southern Oregon is a garden spot in itself, where the visiting tourist can spend weeks seeing wonders such as no other State possesses.

OREGON MAR-BLE CAVES. This particular scene is called "The Pipe Organ." According to geologists this formation has been constructed by the constant drip of water containing a lime solution and took some 80,000 years to form.

Photo by U. S. Forest Service

ONE of the chambers of the wonderful Oregon Marble Caves. These caves are situated in the Southern part of the State and are reached from the City of Grants Pass, which is on the Pacific Highway. A new Highway from the city to the caves has just been completed by the U. S. Forest Service, and it is but a two hours' drive from Grants Pass.

Photo by U. S. Forest Service

A LONG the Pacific Highway, south of the City of Eugene. The highway follows the upper Willamette River for many miles. One never tires of drives in Oregon, as each mile leads you to another spot seemingly more beautiful than the one just passed. Oregon has rightfully been termed "The Summer Playground of America."

“HUCK FINN’S”
ROCK on the McKenzie River Highway, about forty miles east of Eugene. This highway connects the Pacific Highway at Eugene, with The Dalles-California Highway at Bend, and is about one hundred and twenty miles in length. For about eighty miles it follows the McKenzie River, as shown in this picture.

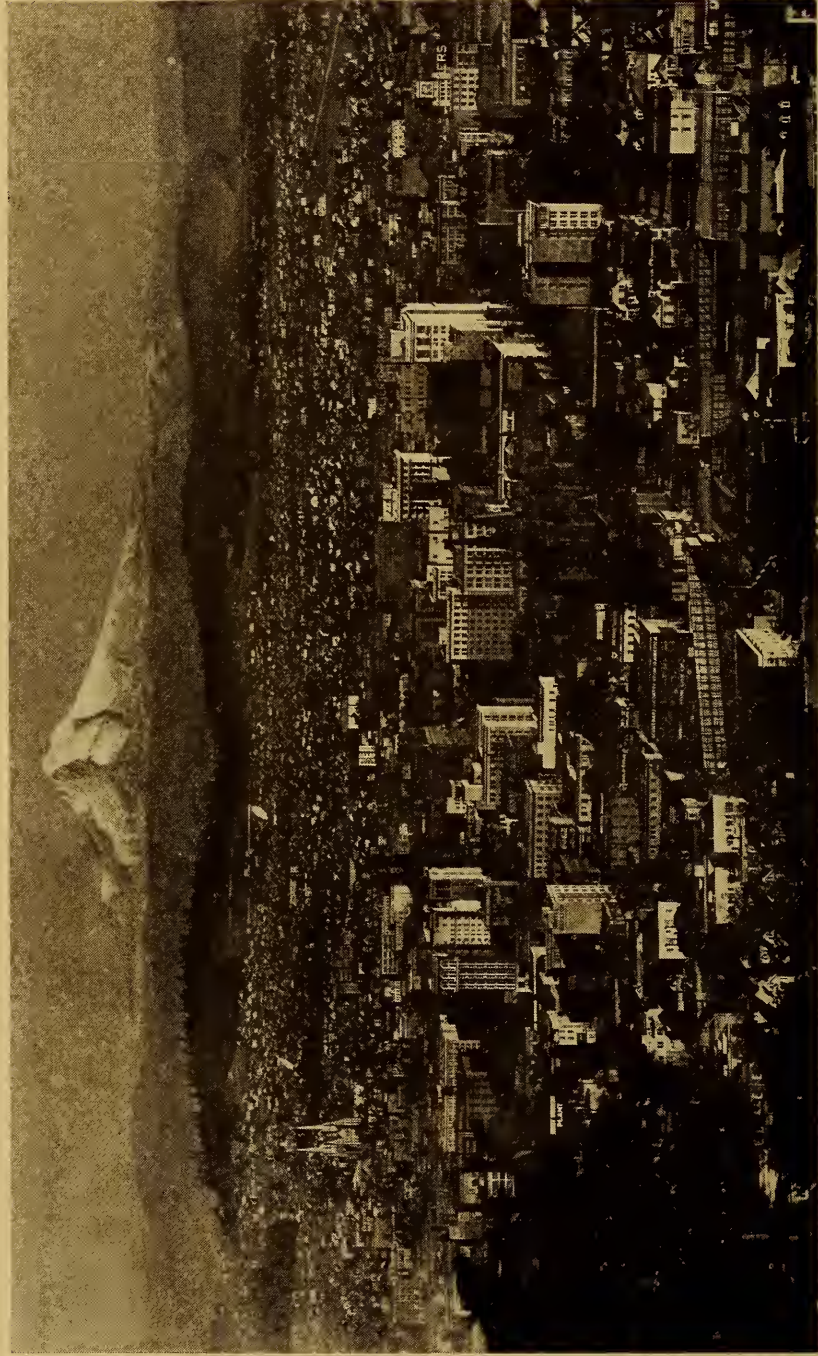

SUMMIT LAKE on the summit of Cascade Mountains, east of the City of Eugene. This is only one of hundreds of such lakes along the summit of these mountains in Oregon. At one spot a person can view forty lakes without moving a step. These lakes are in a high altitude and afford wonderful fishing for those who enjoy that sport.

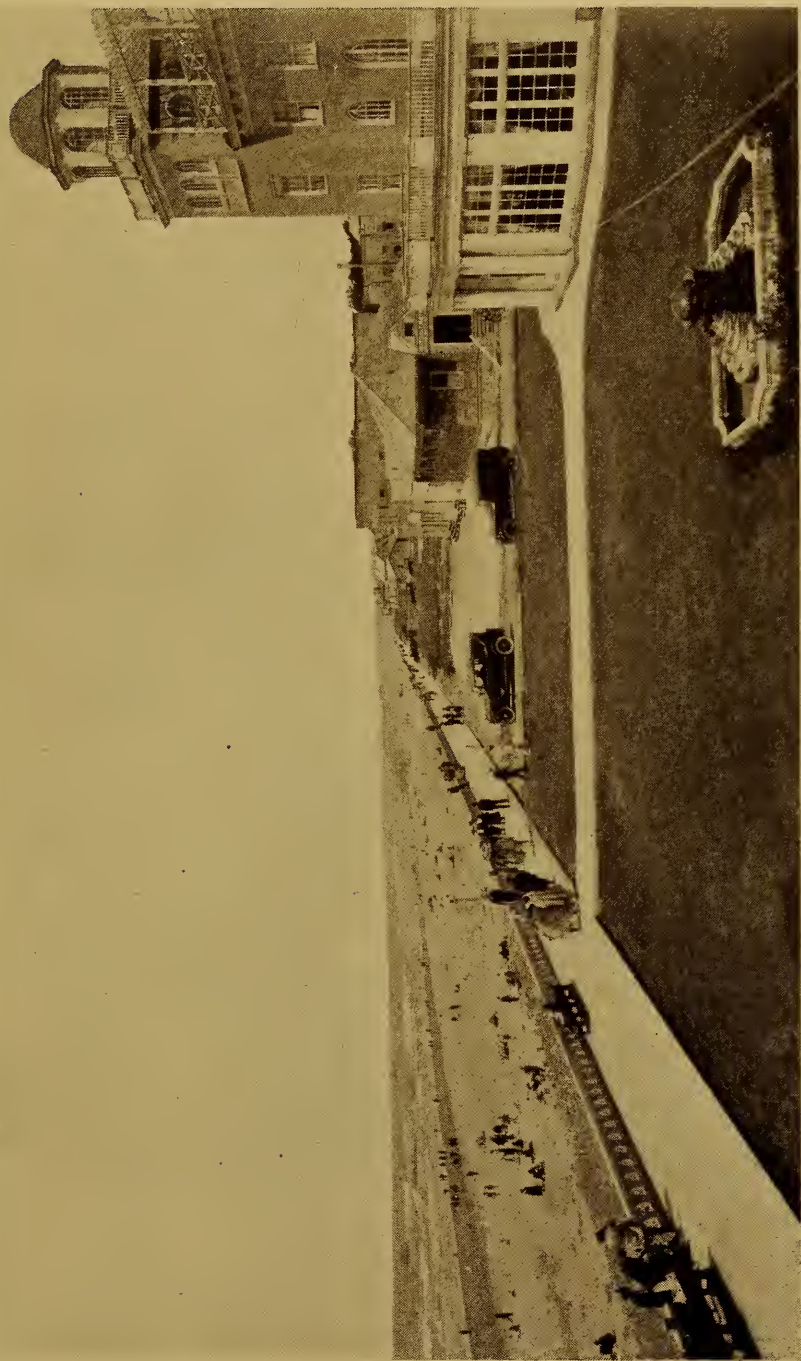

WE want you to know something of the Multnomah Hotel, "Your Western Home," before planning your trip. The Multnomah Hotel is the largest hotel in the Pacific Northwest, and its service and appointment is equalled by none. From the very moment you enter the lobby, you will realize why our eastern friends speak of the Multnomah as their "Western Home."

THE BUSINESS section of Portland, Oregon, with Mt. Hood in the background. This picture was taken from Portland Heights, one of the residential sections of the city, and is only a ten minute's drive from the Multnomah Hotel. Every tourist that visits our city, should view this wonderful panorama. There are many snow peaks in other parts of the world, but none so beautiful as our Mt. Hood.

A PART OF THE hotel and beach at Seaside, Oregon. For those who love surf bathing, this beach has no equal. The automobile in the picture stands at the end of the Oregon Trail where Lewis and Clark first saw the mighty Pacific Ocean. This beach is one hundred and twenty miles from the Multnomah Hotel, and is reached by train; also highway, every foot of which is paved.

Sunset on the Pacific

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 017 187 443 9

0 017 1

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 017 187 443 9

